

Furuset-Oslo, Norway

Client

FutureBuilt (competition)

Description

FutureBuilt initiated an energy-efficient and ecological pilot project for a multicultural sub-center in the East of Oslo with 1000 new residential units, a mixed-use urban local center and 1000 new working places. The tasks included the urban design, creating urban and green meeting places and a variety of urban typologies. Simultaneously with the urban design, a local energy concept and water management concept was also drafted.

2010